

Eric Weinstein

☎ (603) 566-6393
✉ eric.q.weinstein@gmail.com
🐙 ericqweinstein
📌 ericqweinstein

Selected Projects

Bodega, <http://www.bodegamag.com/>

- Web application and CMS for a literary magazine (CoffeeScript, Rails, PostgreSQL).

CityShelf, <http://www.cityshelf.com/>

- Mobile search aggregator for independent bookstores (Angular, Clojure, Swift).

Experience

- 2015–Present Senior Software Engineer, Condé Nast, New York
- Developing a shared digital platform for all of Condé Nast's 20+ brands (Node.js, ES6).
- 2013–2015 Software Engineer, Rent the Runway, New York
- Built a feature flagging system to enable continuous deployment (Backbone, Sinatra).
 - Worked to increase deploy frequency by 400% and decrease deploy time by 98%.
- 2012–2013 Content Architect, Codecademy, New York
- Created and curated course material in JavaScript, Python, and Ruby.

Skills

- Core Skills Software development, TDD, DevOps (CentOS, Jenkins, Puppet, Vagrant), presentations, project management, content and information architecture.
- Technologies Bash, Clojure, ClojureScript, ES6, JavaScript (Angular, Backbone, Express, Hapi, Node, React), MongoDB, Ruby (Padrino, Rails, Sinatra), SQL (MySQL, PostgreSQL, SQLite), (X)HTML/(S)CSS.

Publications, Papers, and Talks

Ruby Wizardry, No Starch Press, December 2014

- An illustrated guide to Ruby for children: <http://www.nostarch.com/rubywizardry>.

So Long, Hoboken: Migrating a Huge Production Codebase from Sinatra to Rails

- RailsConf, 21 April 2015, Atlanta, Georgia: <http://bit.ly/1J7T3oC>.

Education

- 2010–2012 MFA, New York University
- Creative Writing–Poetry
- Awarded a Veterans Writing Workshop Fellowship to teach veterans creative writing.
 - Published in McSweeney's The Believer, The New Yorker, The Yale Review, and others.
- 2004–2007 AB, Duke University
- English Language & Literature, Philosophy
- Graduated magna cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa, High Distinction in Philosophy.
 - Awarded a William M. Blackburn scholarship for excellence in writing.